PRESS RELEASE

Celebrate Fair Trade Month this October with Dr. Bronner's

This October, change up your personal care regime and celebrate Fair Trade Month with organic and fair trade personal care brand, Dr. Bronner's. Partnering with certified organic and certified fair trade producers to build equitable supply chains to source its plant-based ingredients while supporting healthy communities, Dr. Bronner's use certified organic and certified fair trade for all major raw materials used in its personal care range, including multi-purpose soaps, body lotions, balms, hand hygiene sprays, and more.

Fair Trade is a movement that empowers farmers to organize and earn a livelihood within the highly competitive global marketplace. Through organising, farmers are able to tend to what matters most—their family, communities, and the environment. Through organic and regenerative farming practices, small-scale farmers are able to feed 80% of the world's people on just a fraction of the land.

Dr. Bronner's partners with these producers on organic development, training, and restoration projects to build supply chains that are more fair and help to sustain the planet. Small-scale farmers supported through fair trade who are using regenerative organic agriculture practices have been shown to help reverse the trends of climate change. That's why supporting farmer organizations and the companies who partner with them is more important than ever.

By highlighting Fair Trade Month, Dr. Bronner's hopes to educate not only about the integrity of its products, but to focus on how by fairly and equitably supporting the livelihoods of fair trade producers who use regenerative organic agriculture practices, we can collectively reduce carbon from the atmosphere and sequester it back into the soil.

The Dr. Bronner's product range contains no synthetic foaming agents, thickeners, preservatives, dyes, or whiteners and is made with certified fair trade and organic ingredients sourced from fair trade projects around the world such as in Ghana (palm oil), Palestine (olive oil), Israel (olive oil), Pavitramenthe, (peppermint oil), and Sri Lanka (coconut oil).
